Richmond's gridiron stage is all set awaiting the biggest football bat-tle of the 1920 season, which is to take place between University of Richmond Spiders and Virginia Polytechnic Institute tals afternoon at 3 o'clock at Boulevard Field. Dobson colock at Boulevard Field. Dobson gave his eleven final instructions yesterday afternoon on Stadium Field, while Tech concluded its preparation Thursday in Blacksburg, coming to Richmond yesterday.

With the most ideal weather for football of the present season and both machines in the pink of condition and at their maximum strength, the first meeting of the Spiders with the Techmen, on a local gridiron, is slated to be a corker. Consequently the local management is anticipating an overflow crowd. A decided college atmosphere will prevail in a rooting battle between the Spider and Tech sections. In preparation for this and to instill a fighting spirit into the warriors, the local student body paraded to Stadium Field yesterday for a raily, and again last slight sent their yells over the Westhampton campus.

While it is conceded that Tech has the odds in her favor, Dobson's machine has bucked at least three heavier schools this year with a good record. They were triumphant over Catholic of Washington, and the Indians, and lost by a lone touchdown to Davidson. This record presents them as a worthy foe of the Blacksburg aggregation.

The mentalities and skill of the Spider coaching staff has exerted every effort to finish the contest at least a hear winner. Mentally the Disonites are better prepared for today's game than any other this season. They recognize the caliber of their opponents and instead of any overconfidence have a determined spirit, Physically likewise the locals will be capable of producing their best. Dobson has trained his men to take advantage of every opportunity and Tech will have to be wide-awake in order to keep Dobson's men from rushing in on miscues.

Along the line will be massed not great bulk but seven men of experience and skill and in the backheld, a dependable general and a trio of charging backs that will bear watching with a group of able subs to reinforce the starting eleven.

"Monk" Younger, assistant coach, will reach this city early today with the remainder. Coach Sutton last night announced that his team was in the best of physical condition and expected a hard battle from the Spiders.

Henry Redd, the Tech captain, will witness today's battle from the side lines. He is laid up with a broken arm and his place at fullback will be filled by Martin. Parrish, the big left end, will captain the invaders today. Redd will be missed by Tech but the Orange and Maroon players are determined to fight without their raptain.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Undefeated elevens will meet in a series of elimination games on [several Eastern football fields tomorrow. Results of these battles will go far toward deciding the mythical championship of the section.

The contest between Princeton and Harvard, the first of the triangular series of the so-called "big three," will apparently bring together two well-matched elevens, although the strength of the combating combinations does not lie along the same lines. The Crimson is expected to present a well-drilled and developed football machine, reasonably strong on both offensive and defensive, while the Tigers are reported to have a looser, but more brilliant individual attack and a defense which is far from being invulnerable. Harvard is the favorite in the betting.

The Dartmouth-Cornell clash offers a more complicated proposition. Cornell, undefeated to date, comes to New York with a comparatively green team of unusual power, which has been coached with the secretive safeguards for which Gil Dobie is noted. The University of Nebraska players, fresh from their victory over Rutgerson Eelection Day, will meet Penn State and are certain to face a much stronger combination than the New Brunswick team, which they defeated, 28 to 0.

Brown goes to New Haven to meet Yale with what appears to be a team as yet to taste defeat. The Providence eleven to date has run up double figures in every contest, while Maine has been the only team to cross the Brown goal line. It is probable that Yale, one week from the Princeton game, is in a position to hold Brown in check, should the coaches decide it necessary to throw the full power and strategy of the Blue attack against the invaders.

The University of Pittsburgh, another undefeated aggergation, plays Pennsylvania and while the Panthers' record is slightly marred by a 7-to-7 tie with Syracuse, it would appear as though Glenn Warner's warrior-ers are entirely too powerful for the Pennsylvania squad during the past week.

Georgetown will invade Annapolis with its banners showing nothing but victories this season and hopes to past week.
